Note: The above table represents a summary of the archaeological features and activities described in the document. Each entry includes the area, description, grid reference, phase, status, feature type, find type, and find details. The status column indicates whether the feature or activity is possible, likely, or certain, and the feature type column specifies the type of feature or activity (e.g., cremation, kiln, salt wining site).
Pottery from river dredging - fragmented - predominantly C1-2 Belgic & Roman Possibly substantial roadside settlement, perhaps extending from Ickham mills to west of Wickhambreaux; LC1-?EC5; settlement significant by C3 and into C4
Possible cremation(s) with MC2 samian dish & poppy head beaker
Cellar of tiles, frequently wasters; niche; painted plaster from upper floor. Pot C1-2
Funerary
Low status (but Dr 1) LIA-E/MR settlement, with also some later Roman evidence
